

Adverbs "ещё" and "уже"

Time in the Russian language is described with the help of the adverbs ещё and уже. The adverb ещё can mean that:

- a process has not started yet;
- the desired result has not been achieved so far;
- an action which was to have finished at the moment of speech is still going on.
- У тебя есть машина?
- Ещё нет.
 - "Do you have a car?"
 "No, not yet."
- Ольга отдыхает?
- Нет, она ещё работает.

"Is Olga resting?"

"No, she is still working."

- Он работает?
- Нет, он ещё студент.

"Does he work?"

"No, he is still a student."

- Ты сейчас обедаешь?
- Ещё нет, я работаю.

"Are you having lunch?"

"No, not yet. I am working."

The adverb yme can mean that:

- a process has finished;
- the result has been achieved;
- there is already another action under way at the moment of speech.
- У тебя есть машина?
- Да, уже есть!

"Do you have a car?"

"Yes, I have one already!"

- Ольга отдыхает?
- Да, она уже отдыхает.

"Is Olga resting?"

"Yes, she is already resting."

- Он студент?
- Нет, он уже работает.

"Is he a student?"

"No, he is already working."

- Ты сейчас обедаешь?
- Нет, я уже работаю. обед уже закончился

"Are you having lunch?"

"No, I am already working." lunch is over